Broadway Musical in Final Rehearsals

Members of the Vocal Music Department of Grayling High School are now entering the final series of rehearsals in preparation for their forthcoming production of "Flower Drum Song," which will be staged May 14, 15 and 16 in the Grayling High School Gym.

"Flower Drum Song," by Rodgers and Hammerstein opened at the St. James Theatre in New York on December 1, 1958, where it played for 601 performances. Following the New York opening the musical was taken on the road for a very long and successful tour which ended with the filming of "Flower Drum Song" into an award winning movie.

San Francisco's modern Chinatown is the scene of this gay, colorful musical. Its story is concerned with the conflict between the older and younger generation Chinese and shows the sharp contrast between those who follow the customs of the old country and those who have become more Americanized. In telling their story, Rodgers and Hammerstein have utilized all of their creative genius in evok-

Regional Drama Festival Set At Grayling

On Monday evening, April 27, at 6:30 p.m., a Regional Forensic Festival in Drama will be held at the Grayling Elementary School. The date has been changed from the previous week because of a conflict in scheduling on the part of judges. Also, the State Forensic Manager states that the schools will be competing for regional honors, rather than district honors, as originally announced.

Six schools are assigned to the Grayling regional, which will begin at 6:30 p.m. sharp. Grayling drama students will present "To Burn A Witch." Charlevoix's production will be "Infanta."

Elks Rapids will present "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals." A cutting from "Little Women" will be the offering of the Roscommon thespians. The names of the plays to be presented by Fairview and Tawas City are not known at this time.

The general public is invited to view the performances. There will be an admission of 50c for students and $1.00 for adults. Trophies will be presented the first and second place winners, as well as to the best actor and best actress. Critic judges will be faculty members from the Speech and Drama Department of Central Michigan University.

Help! -- Help!

Little League of Grayling has plans for a new concession stand, press box and lavatories of cement block construction. Bidding will commence shortly by Jack Millikin and it is hoped that it will be completed by opening day, the first week in June.

Although Little League has very limited finances, we feel anyone in the area donating help, material or money will be greatly appreciated and this building soon will become a reality. If you will kindly help in any way call "Skip" Hanson, James Duley or Harry Miller.

One hundred and twenty boys from ages 8-12 each year enjoy Little League Baseball and will continue to do so for years to come. Help us try to improve this great sport in Grayling.

Plan Medical Program On May 6 Here

Crawford County physicians will participate in Grayling Wednesday, May 6 in a continuing medical education program presented by the Michigan State Medical Society.

Two physicians from Wayne State University School of Medicine will conduct a clinical conference at 4 p.m. at Mercy Hospital and then lecture at the meeting of the local medical society.

Coming to Grayling will be Frank Cullis, M.D., associate professor of internal medicine; and Doctor James Tatten, clinical psychologist at the Rehabilitation Institute. Their topic for discussion will be "The Rehabilitation of the Stroke Patient." Doctor Cullis will discuss "Physiological Aspects" and Doctor Tatten will discuss Psychological Aspects.

B. E. Henig, M.D., has been instrumental in arranging this program. The project is sponsored by the Michigan State Medical Society Committee on Postgraduate Medical Education. Sixteen programs are being presented in various regions of the state this spring through the cooperation of the three Michigan medical schools and the Michigan Department of Public Health.

Have You A Question?

If you have a question about school building needs, school programs, or school problems, send it to "Questions about Schools," Grayling High School, 500 Spruce, Grayling.

Question: The school board plans to erect re-locatable classrooms next to the high school. Will they be used after the middle school is completed or will they represent wasted money.

Answer: They will be used for high school classes after the middle school is completed. Eventually they can be moved to another site or sold to another school district.

Question: What alternatives does the school board have if portable classrooms are not erected for next year?

Answer: School facilities are already way over-crowded. With next year's expected enrollment increase the board has only two alternatives, relocatable classrooms or half-day sessions.

Question: Recently a great has been said about a "middle school." I'd like to ask what this school is and why it is so good.

Answer: A middle school is so named because it serves the middle grades (five through eight). Recent studies in school district organization indicate that students in these grades have interests and needs that are very similar and can best be served in a middle school. Another local advantage to a middle school is relieving the pressure from both the local elementary school and the high school.

If you have anything of this nature, call John Latuszek at 348-7212 or 348-6907 and arrangements will be made to pick them up.

The Kiwanis Club is planning an auction of these items on, with proceeds going to club.

Green Belt Gets National Attention

By Willard Bosserman
County Extension Director

The green belt zoning ordinance developed by the AuSable River Watershed Study Council for Grayling Township in Crawford County received national attention in the "Extension Service Review."

It is a service magazine published by the Federal Extension Service for Cooperative Extension Service personnel. It has been circulated in every county within the fifty states.

The article was written by Willard Bosserman, County Extension Director for Crawford and Roscommon Counties. He explained how concerned citizens working together were able to produce the ordinance to protect the high quality of the AuSable River.

Bosserman has received requests for additional information from Maine to as far west as Kansas. He expects more requests as readers further west have an opportunity to get letters mailed.

Two trucks from the City Fire Dept. and one Conservation Dept. truck answered the call. According to Chief Golnick the roof was in when they arrived and the building was a total loss. Damage was estimated at about $30,000.

Golnick said that the fire was believed to have been started in the wiring, in the East front bedroom.

NOTICE

There will be a Republican meeting on April 29 at the Crawford County Courthouse at 7:30 p.m.

Open House Held at Chandra Club

Area business leaders, headed by Mayors Dr. L. R. Ball of Roscommon and Derck McK. of Grayling, were guests at an open house at the Chandra Club Thursday afternoon, April 16.

The Chandra Club covers 1300 acres and was formerly the South Branch Ranch property. It lies off from the Chase Bridge Road, 8 miles from Roscommon and 16 miles from Grayling, and is Northern Michigan's newest private club.

Following a complete tour of the present facilities, including a recreation building, lodge, bunk house and stables, many of the guests were amazed at the beauty of the club's grounds and the facilities available to the members.

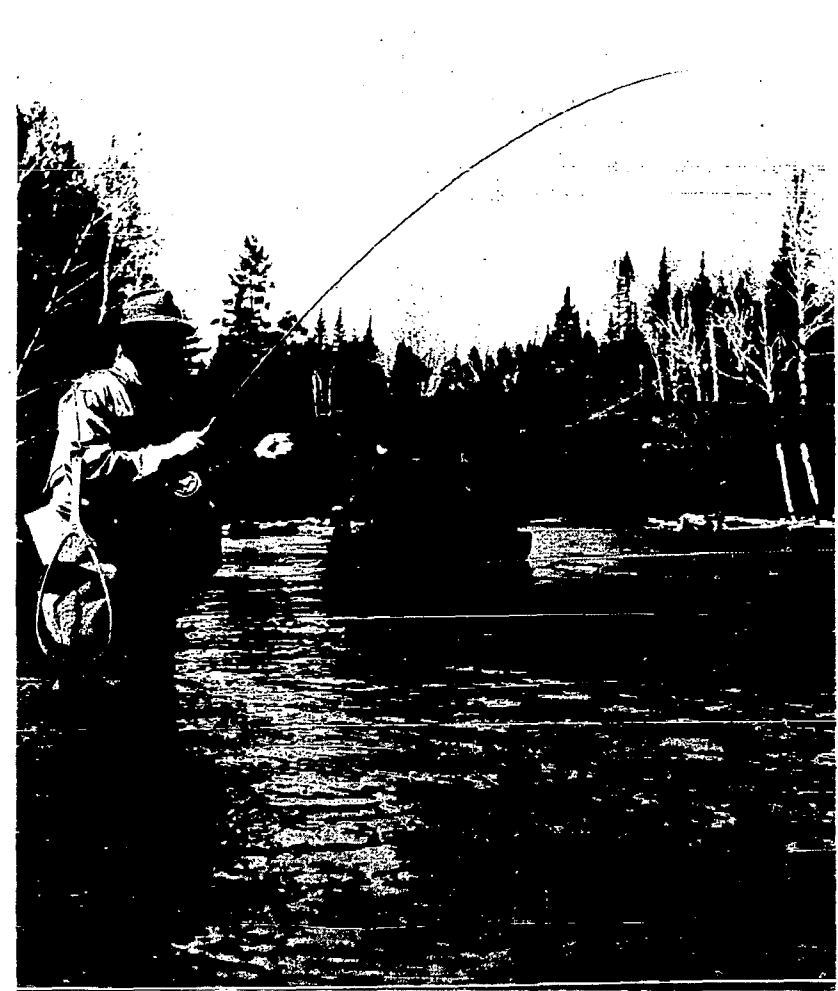

Paul Gallaty, President of the Club, announced to the guests the club's plans for this spring include the erection of a heated, ground swimming pool, the addition of sauna baths, and the addition of the private air station on 2500 to 3000 feet.

Gallaty also explained that this was the first in a number of Chandra Clubs that they intend to organize in the nation with possibly two or three more in Michigan, one in either New Mexico or Arizona and possibly one in Florida. A member in one club will be extended Club privileges throughout the entire organization.

He stated, it has always been the dream of the founders to make the privileges and advantages of a private club available to Mr. Average American and his family by keeping the cost of memberships very low and purchased on a monthly payment plan.

It is intended for the Club to eventually have 1200 to 1500 members which will have a decided impact on the economy of the area.

Trout Season To Open Saturday

This will be a familiar scene Saturday.

Bait fishing will be the order of the day on most streams when Michigan's general trout season opens April 25, according to the Department of Natural Resources.

"Early spring's prolonged low temperatures have delayed insect hatches, thereby increasing the odds against the fly fisherman on opening day," says David P. Borgeson, Department trout specialist.

There are a few favorable possibilities, however, according to Borgeson. He explained that hatches may occur on some southern Michigan streams where water tends to warm up early. On these, fly fishing may be good. And by noon or early afternoon, hatches also may be expected on the AuSable and a few other northern streams.

"The cold weather hasn't been all bad for this year's opening-day trout fisherman in the northern Lower Peninsula," says Borgeson. "It has delayed completion of the steelhead runs, and in a number of streams these fighting trout offer an attractive late April bonus."

Trout fishing regulations for 1970 are unchanged from 1969. The ten-inch size limit which went into effect last year on browns and rainbows remains. The limit is seven inches on brook trout in streams; ten inches in the Great Lakes.

There were an estimated 264,000 resident and 21,000 nonresident trout fishermen in Michigan last year.

Crawford County Recreational Activities

Stream conditions on the upper AuSable River Watershed and the Upper Manistee will be normal for opening day Trout fishermen. Snow cover is completely gone and the run-off was good. If heavy rains come, rivers will be up.

Stream temperatures range 40 degrees on the Main River to 38 degrees on the South Branch, and 39 degrees on the North Branch.

Outdoor temperatures have been on the cool side and mid-afternoon hatches of Blue Duns and Stone Flies have not been heavy. Nymphs and Streamers will be the lures to use.

The Upper Manistee, Big Creek, and the East Branch should provide good bait and spincast fishing.

All trail roads to favored fishing areas are good, and campgrounds are open.

Starting April 25th a "Hot Line" on fishing and canoeing will be operated 24-hours a day. For up-to-the-second information on river conditions and our best fishing hot spots in Crawford County, phone Grayling 517-348-3836 or 517-348-9403.

This does not include the various district, regional, and state honors that Grayling speech students have won in the American Legion Oratory program. The latter program, like the state program, also provides competition at local, district, region, and state levels. The American Legion Oratory, though parallel to the state forensics, is completely distinct and separate.

4-H Learns About Environment

By Willard Bosserman
County Extension Director

Nearly 300 boys and girls are enrolled in the 4-H wildlife conservation project in Crawford and Roscommon counties. The wildlife project fits into the environmental quality teaching particularly well. They study the whole ecology of nature.

One aspect of the environmental study involves learning about plant succession and wildlife. They learned that the type of plants growing determine to a great extent the types of wildlife that will be present.

They discovered that low food supply has more to do with fewer deer than does open season on does. The decade of 1950 saw the cut-over second growth poplar trees grow out of reach of the deer. An over population of deer caused stress on the whole herd because there was not enough food for any of them, especially in the winter.

The young 4-H'ers look at the rapidly growing human population and wonder if we will outgrow our food supply.

Know Your Michigan Law

By Attorney General
Frank J. Kelley

Michigan law provides partial property tax relief to some senior citizens who own their homesteads. Until recently, a person over sixty-five years of age could claim a partial exemption from property tax if the value of his homestead was less than $10,000 of state equalized valuation, which means $20,000 of current market value.

In 1968, 194,000 homes received the benefit of this exemption. In 1969, only 183,000 homes received this benefit because inflation had brought the value of these homesteads above the $20,000 limitations.

The law has been changed, effective for the 1970 tax year and all future tax years. Every person over the age of sixty-five who has less than $6,000 of annual gross income, may claim a partial exemption from property taxation for his homestead, regardless of the value of the home. Gross income is defined in the law as the total income subjected to Federal income tax and all income specifically excluded therefrom as of December 31, 1969.

It is estimated that for the year 1970, between 230,000 and 240,000 senior citizens will be able to claim the exemption. Every person over the age of sixty-five who does not receive gross income in excess of $6,000 per annum, and who owns a home should apply annually before the date of final adjournment of the board of review, for the senior citizens homestead tax exemption.

They find out that there are a lot of parallels between nature's wildlife ecology and our own. In fact, they discover that we are a part of nature's ecology and the same natural laws that affect them affect us. I wonder if adults will learn rapidly enough that we must work with nature and not try to control her?

For too long, our society has thought of having dominion over the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle and over every creeping thing to mean that we could treat nature in any way we so desired. But, we are learning that many of our technological advances create as many problems as they solve, and we cannot mistreat nature. Too often we institute new technology with no regard to nature's role.

One example of this is a new method of handling farm wastes. Time was when all animal wastes were incorporated into the top soil where micro-organisms recycled it for plant growth. Now, some of the new livestock feed lots run their wastes into lagoons which give them disposal problems.

Young people, 4-H and others are interested in their environment because they will inherit the environment that we leave them. They want it to be one that will sustain them for a full life.

Memo from Merrily

By Merrily Baldwin
Extension Home Economist

Don't be surprised if your neighbor comes home with plastic furniture. You may be next. The future of plastics is phenomenal. Some say 80 percent of materials used by 1980 will be plastic.

Improved technology is one reason for the rise in the use of plastics. When plastics first came on the scene the emphasis was on price. This is still so in some cases, but price is not the only factor the consumer considers.

Consumers of today have other values to satisfy, such as aesthetics and serviceability.

Because of this, the plastics industry has put money into research and development to find new products that are not merely replacements for other materials.

With research, the industries have come up with "breathable vinyls" that are softer, and flexible.

Research also has developed fibers that will accept a variety of colors, and ones with improved finishes which resist scratches, burns, and stains by household chemicals.

Plastics also have a better acceptance—especially among the young people. They have grown up with the idea of using plastics, and don't have the poor image of plastics that their parents might have.

A third factor that accounts for the growing popularity of plastics is the tightening supply and increased price of woods. Wood may never disappear from the furniture field. But it will be used for more exclusive and higher priced items.

As the demand for furniture increases, handcrafting methods are giving way to methods which can be mechanized, and adapted for mass production.

The designer will become the "hand touch." The concept of hand made as synonymous with quality is already lessening to a great degree.

Kenneth Brosen, a contemporary furniture designer, believes it is the excitement brought about by the "mind touch" of the designer that really counts.

In the future we will see more changes in materials and processes used in furniture making. As a consequence, furniture design will change. And that will lead to changes in our values as to what furniture quality really means.

Kirtland Classes Tour Lewiston Plant

On Thursday, April 9, the combined classes, Personal Development and Business Correspondence, toured the new Lewiston Lustru Plant in Lewiston, Mich. Bud Mason, Plant Manager, cooperated very graciously with Kirtland Community College in allowing the students to visit his facility, and Mr. Murphy, Plant Superintendent, did a fine job of showing the students around and answering their questions.

Kathleen Johnson, secretarial science instructor, arranged the tour as part of her continuing effort to acquaint her students with career opportunities. Lewiston Lustru is one of the larger installations in this area and is indicative of the growing opportunities available to students.

In a nation as big as ours there is always a tendency to overlook the individual and to think only of groups. Youth gets the brunt of this generalizing.

Many of our boys and girls are delinquent. But some folks would have us believe that every child is a potential delinquent.

Time we realized that children aren't chicks! They don't grow up by the drawerful to have the same characteristics and habits.

Children respond to love, parental example, religious guidance. They possess an ever-increasing aptitude for responsibility, trust, and faith.

Most of our boys and girls will grow up to assume their rightful place in an orderly, Christian society. Some will populate our jails. But the destiny of the individual youth is not a matter of chance and percentage.

It is determined primarily by the conscientiousness of loving parents, and by the persistency with which his natural religious interests are cultivated.

On The Other Foot

A late AP dispatch carries what may seem to many an amusing sort of "man bites dog" story. It tells of an investigation of a federal agency by a group of law students. Their report is far from complimentary and prompted the head of the agency to comment: "This report emanates from a group with a self-granted license to criticize a respected government agency by the use of a type of investigative and 'smear technique' that newspapermen informed me is unusual even for Washington."

For a great many years, government spokesmen and investigative bodies have staged one-sided hearings where the principle objective seems to have been to damage the reputations of private citizens and industries who have been at a great disadvantage in answering the "authoritative" statements of officials. Now the shoe is on the other foot. And the official whose agency has been under investigation by private citizens terms the outcome "a scurrilous, untruthful attack on the career personnel" of his agency.

Regardless of the merit or the truth of the law students' findings, this "man bites dog" episode has a couple of interesting points. Under our system of government there is no firing squad or prison waiting for the private citizens who have taken issue with a public official. On the other hand, the thin-skinned response to the law students' report shows pretty clearly what would have happened if the occurrence had taken place, say, in Czechoslovakia or the Soviet Union.

Old Cure Still Works

Over the past quarter of a century or more, people have been taught that economists and governmental planners can control business cycles. That has been the crux of the "new economics". One of the main troubles today may be that people are becoming unsold on the invincibility of the managed economy. As the Spokane, Washington, Valley Herald expresses it, "We have tolerated governmental excesses which have led to inflation under the assumption that economics had now become a manageable science — that governmental action and policies could be used to speedup or slowdown business activity. This principle remains to be proved."

Business has been slowed down according to the indices, but not so much by the practice of new economics it seems, as by a dose of good old-fashioned belt tightening that has appeared to do little so far to stem the inflation psychology inspired by the new economic theories we have lived with for so many years.

46 YEARS AGO —

April 24, 1924

Henry Ford passed thru Grayling Monday at about 6:30 p.m. He and a party of Ford executives, including Edsel Ford, were enroute to Iron Mountain, Upper Michigan. They occupied a special train consisting of Mr. Ford's private car, a sleeper and baggage car. Mr. Ford came out on the back platform in response to a greeting by quite a large crowd of people who had gathered there to see him. He asked a lot of questions about Grayling and conducted some good natured kidding with a number of youngsters, which, he seemed to enjoy as much as they, and they couldn't get the best of him in any way. He always had a ready answer. It certainly proved that the bigger the man the easier it is to approach him. Those who were at the train are glad to have had an opportunity of meeting Michigan's manufacturing genius.

Two new public auto garages are to be opened up for business on the South Side next week. Walter Buck, who has been employed by M. A. Atkinson in his garage since he opened up the same earlier in the year, has purchased the property of Hans

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor,

A while back I heard something was going to be done about the water pollution in the AuSable River which is very fine. But, what is being done about the air problem that is coming from the Sanitary Fill which is not a Sanitary Fill because it is being burned.

My husband works in Grayling and there are times when he runs into Smoke and Smell (which I might add is not too pleasant) as far out as the I-75 rest area up from 4 Mile Road or clear into town depending upon the way the wind is blowing.

I have also seen other dumps in this county that are being burned.

WHAT IS BEING DONE ABOUT THIS?

Concerned

R. Nelson, just above the State Street bridge, where Mr. Nelson for many years operated a garage until he secured a better position downtown. Mr. Buck has also purchased the Nelson home which is near the garage. Warren Vallad took over the Atkinson Garage on Alger Street near the South Side grocery.

A public reception was tendered Rev. Fr. Culligan, newly appointed pastor of St. Mary's Church, by the Ladies' Altar Society at Shoppenagons Inn on Tuesday evening and was well attended. The early part of the evening was made pleasant by Schram's orchestra, which rendered many fine selections. A short musical program followed. Frank Anstett rendered a couple of violin solos. He was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Anstett. Miss Grace Bauman, accompanied by Miss Lucille Hanson, sang a pleasing solo and responded to an encore. The remainder of the evening Mrs. Anstett, piano, Mr. Anstett, violin, and Claude Gelson, saxophone, delightfully entertained those present. T. W. Hanson in his genial way welcomed Fr. Culligan, who responded in a gracious manner.

Among those driving new autos are Thomas Trudo, Nash coach; Henry Trudo, Hudson coach; A. J. Joseph, Buick sedan; Gilbert Vallad, Overland sedan; Mrs. Nels Olson, Buick sedan; Forrest Barber, Durant sport; John Stephan, Sr., Dodge touring; Herbert Smith, Studebaker roadster; Louis Meade, roadster; Phil Moran, Star sport; Jesse Bobenmoyer, Star sedan; Joseph Nadieu, Ben De La Mater and Carl Hanson, Star touring car.

The $600 scholarship will assist the Grayling High School senior in completing a Fashion Merchandising program at the business college. Deborah plans on starting her program in the Fall Term, which begins September 7, 1970.

Saginaw Business Institute awards a total of 15 scholarships to students in statewide competition. High School seniors in all Michigan high schools were eligible to compete for these scholarships. Selection of the scholarship winners was based on scholarship standing, financial need, recommendation by high school officials, and the student's extracurricular activities.

We wish to congratulate Deborah on her fine achievements throughout high school, and we wish her luck in pursuing a business career in the fashion field.

Policyholder Questions Answered by
The Institute of Life Insurance, 277
Park Ave., N. Y., N. Y., 10017

Q. A friend of mine who's an insurance agent told me about a "billion dollar program" supported by a number of life insurance companies. He was enthusiastic over what the companies were doing in city slum areas and said many other people should be involved in this work. I'd like to know more about the program. Is there any information you could send me?

A. Your friend is referring to the program launched in September, 1967, to improve living conditions in the blighted areas of cities with a pledge of $1 billion by life insurance companies. In April, 1969, with this commitment virtually completed, companies pledged a second $1 billion for the program.

The money has been used to finance low-income housing, job-creating enterprises and community service facilities in 240 cities throughout the country. So far, $878 million is financing the construction, rehabilitation or purchase of 80,000 housing units for low and moderate income families. Another $301 million is providing 38,000 permanent jobs, in addition to those involved in the construction work.

The 121 companies participating in the program have financed projects in 42 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico.

If you think about it for a moment, you'll realize that urban problems affect all of us, wherever we live. As a consequence, many organizations and individuals have become interested and have given their time to the success of the numerous urban programs now underway. If you're wondering how and where to start, contact your clergyman, civic association, or local legislator. Telephone directories list a number of "social service organizations" which can tell you how you can help.

A pamphlet entitled "The Cities... Your Challenge Too" has been prepared by the Institute of Life Insurance for concerned individuals like yourself. It tells where to begin, what some people and groups are already doing, what organizations need your help, and some project ideas. For a copy, just drop them a line at 277 Park Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10017.

I Couldn't
Tattle On Dick

By Jim Fitzgerald

When I was a little boy, one of the worst things a kid could be was a tattletale.

If my Dad threatened to burn my entire collection of comic books, I still wouldn't tell him who helped me swipe them from the drugstore. Nobody wanted to be a squealer, a stool pigeon, a fink.

Of course, no publisher ever offered me $50,000 to write a book about how Dick Johnson, the minister's son, was the lookout while I stuffed Superman comics under my baggiest sweater.

I wonder if I would have sold out? Perhaps the price of my young integrity was 10 cents for a Saturday afternoon movie. Lord knows a baby-faced shoplifter doesn't need help carrying his scruples. But still, I like to think I would have remained silent no matter how grand a bribe was offered.

Dick Johnson was my best buddy. We told each other things we'd never tell anyone else. Until I confessed to my wife 20 years later, Dick was the only soul on earth who knew I was once in love with Betty Grable and had seen one of her movies 17 times. ("Down Argentina Way" costarring Alice Faye, who was a little too fat, and Don Ameche).

I couldn't possibly tattle on Dick. No more than Tonto could knife the Lone Ranger. Gosh, we had a hidden cave in a riverbank where we spent long hours hiding from the world. The cave was a tight fit and I had to exhale when he inhaled. How could I rat on anyone that close to me?

That's the code I grew up with. A gentleman simply doesn't sink on his friends. But the code sure feels uncomfortable and old-fashioned today.

Today, Detroit Tiger Bill Freehan writes a book full of lockerroom secrets about his Detroit teammates. Sam Johnson writes a book revealing private moments in the life of his brother, Lyndon. A member of the Chicago Seven jury writes newspaper articles telling everything that went on in the once-sacred jury room.

And everyone who was ever close to John and Jackie Kennedy writes a book giving such historically important information as how much she spent on shoes and how angry he got about it.

The world is full of tattletales, all doing their thing for a buck. Maybe it's ok. Certainly, this sinking is what a lot of people want. Publishers wouldn't print "sensational, behind-the-scenes" nonsense if there weren't a panting public eager to buy every word.

The tattlers always say they did it because "it's history" and "the public has a right to know" and all that crud. I wish just one squealer would honestly admit he sold out for money, the heck with loyalty. I can understand greed and it doesn't make me throw up as quickly as phoniness.

As a professional writer, maybe I should be expected to violate confidences—particularly when a stab-in-the-back might improve readership and put more bread in my box. But it was several years ago that I did considerable soul-searching and bookkeeping and discovered this marvelous fact: I can already afford more hangovers than I want to live through.

And a drink—or anything else—is 200% better shared with a friend who trusts you.

Heck, Dick Johnson wasn't even his real name.

Christmas Seal Campaign Shows 3 Percent Increase

Final contributions to Michigan's 1969 Christmas Seal campaign, which ended on March 31, totaled $1,692,750. The campaign went over the top, reaching an increase of three percent over the 1968 campaign, which is an increase of $49,833.

Winthrop N. Davey, M.D., president of the Michigan Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, state Christmas Seal agency, and professor of internal medicine at the University of Michigan Medical School, Ann Arbor, said citizen response to the campaign was most gratifying. The funds will be used to bolster the many programs of the state's TB-RD associations and allow for increased attention to programs and activities dealing with tuberculosis, air pollution, smoking and respiratory disease.

Currently, Christmas Seal funds are being used on many fronts in the fight for better health for all Michigan citizens. Funds are used to support smoking information for educators and school children; for smoking withdrawal clinics; tuberculin skin testing programs and chest X-ray programs; in encouraging the public to be aware of the danger signals of respiratory disease — chronic cough, shortness of breath and chest pains; in providing for professional education of physicians and paramedical personnel about respiratory diseases; providing for fellowship grants and medical research at Michigan's three leading universities; involving the public in the fight for cleaner air; and many other activities.

Private Lands for Learning

The Conservation Education Reserve Program, established in 1967 by the Natural Resources Commission, has proved popular with both landowners and school and youth groups in Michigan, and is growing steadily. It works like this: School youngsters need the opportunity to see, on a first-hand basis, nature at work. But school districts seldom can afford the 5 to 20 acres that might include a swamp, a pond, a woodlot, or a meadow where nature study can be carried on in land-patched lower Michigan. So some enlightened landowners who live near schools have offered use of their lands for this purpose. The Department of Natural Resources helps set up the program between school and landowner, and provides the distinctive sign, above, along with planning help. Minimum size of such areas is five acres, and most average around 20 acres. Seven reserves are now in use in southern Michigan, and a number of others are in preparation. Property holders interested in making their lands available as learning grounds for youths are urged to write to: Conservation Education Reserve, Michigan Department of Natural Resources, Mason Building, Lansing, Michigan 48926.

4-H Teens Give Big Assist to Many

A young and vital sector of the nation's population concerned with social problems, law enforcement, environmental improvement, and demonstrations are making headlines. Their number totals just over 150,000 and their influence is felt from coast-to-coast.

They are the junior leaders of 4-H Clubs, whose activities spill over into community, state and nation. They not only speak up for 4-H, but help teach the younger members the "learn-by-doing" program. They convincingly demonstrate a better way to sew, cook, garden, have fun or be a good citizen.

They also work with pre-schoolers, orphans, physically handicapped, mentally ill, and even with youngsters who run afoul of the law.

These "concerned" teenagers are participating in the national 4-H leadership program supported for the last 10 years by The Sears-Roebuck Foundation.

Again this year 12 of the nation's most outstanding 4-H junior leaders chosen by the Cooperative Extension Service will receive $600 scholarships.

Said 19-year-old Shirley Korrey, a 1969 scholarship winner: "I organized a 4-H Club especially designed to help mentally retarded children."

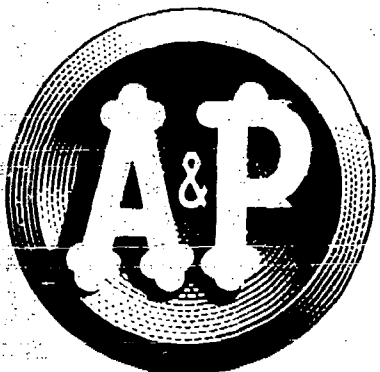

She not only brought a new dimension to their limited existence, but also encouraged the parents to improve home living conditions.

"Hang on... don't drop that stitch!" says this junior 4-H leader to her young pupil. She is one of more than 150,000 teenage youths participating in the 1970 national 4-H leadership program conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service in 50 states, and supported by The Sears-Roebuck Foundation.

A young man who is now a 1970 local, state and national pre-law student, followed a different leadership path. He held offices in his local 4-H Club, which led to his being elected state 4-H president. He is a member of a group preparing a report for the 1970 White House Conference on Children and Youth.

There will be a news conference for the 12 national champions, radio and television appearances, and other events calling public attention to this reliable brand of leadership.

present tax roll system. He then proposed that this township consider going to computer system to eliminate waste, confusion, and reduce cost. Discussion followed. A motion was made by Siewert, supported by Fisher, that the computer system be further developed and adopted. All ayes.

The 1970 Highway Program was highlighted by Supervisor Fowler as follows:

1. A follow through on the 1969 program that was not completed.

2. During this year the 1971 road program will be developed. Roads for which we have received petitions or requests for improvements are:

a. Portage Ave. and part of Poplar Ave. in Grayling Park.

b. McIntyre Landing Rd.

c. Danish Landing Rd.

d. Morency Rd. from existing black top north. (This project will require removal of muck from the swamp area.)

e. Shaw Rd. should be considered for the development of a program.

It can easily be seen that demand far exceeds finances. The floor was opened for questions and discussion. Supervisor Fowler reviewed the financing of road improvements upon request. The floor made a suggestion that this township should have a road committee. A motion was made by Borchers, supported by Marilyn Longworth, that a Township Road Planning Committee be established to serve at the pleasure of the Electors at the Annual Meeting. All ayes.

A motion was made by Mitchell, supported by Siewert, that Clyde Borchers, Lawrence Hunter, Ruby Reetz, and David MacLean be named to the Grayling Township Road Planning Committee. All ayes.

The Supervisor proposed that a qualified person be hired to further study Lake Margrethe and the Ausable River pollution during the month of August. He also remarked that this is necessary to follow-up and note the pollution increase or decrease since last year and to further pinpoint the sources of pollution.

Housing for the Grayling Township offices was discussed. The areas of discussion were:

1. County Building

2. City Hall

3. Building a New Township Building

Supervisor Fowler recommended moving into the City Building and keeping the building fund intact should it be necessary to build.

Comments were called for before any motions were made.

This lease will be in accordance with the letter of April 2nd from City Manager Valusek and will be for a period of one year with option for renewal.

A motion was made by Papefus, supported by Fisher, that the Township Board be authorized to sell the existing Township Building and any excess furnishings. All ayes.

Siewert made a motion that $2,500, made-up of the $500 already budgeted and $2,000 from the building fund, be used for the purchase of new office furniture and equipment. This motion was supported by Gloria Kraus. All ayes.

A motion was made by Reetz, supported by Anderson, that the proceeds from the sale of the Township Building and excess furniture be returned to the building fund. All ayes, except one nay.

An opportunity was given to the floor to bring other business to the attention of the meeting for action.

An item by item review of the proposed 1970-71 Grayling Township Budget was made. A question, explanation, and discussion period was held as necessary during the budget reading.

Workshop On Sanitary Code

Environmental protection thru pollution control is an ongoing program which involves many agencies.

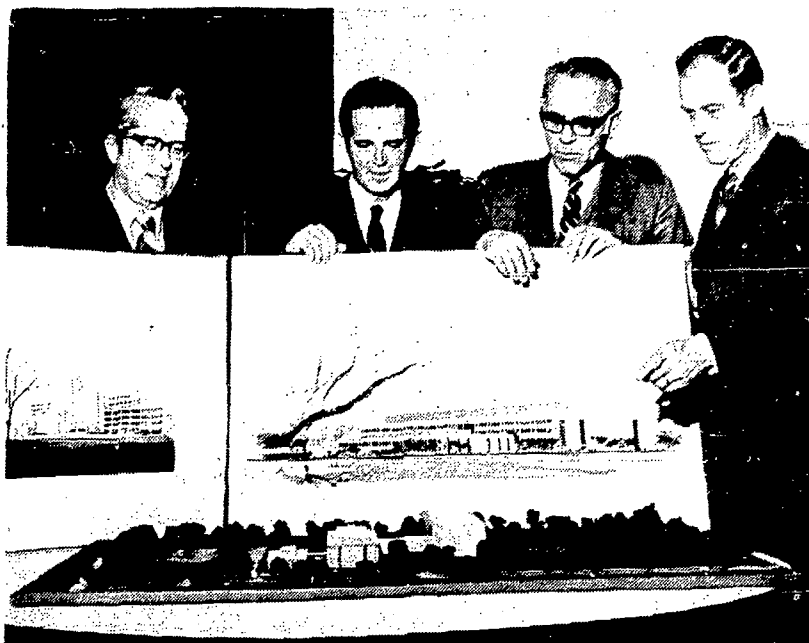

A specific program under the jurisdiction of your District Health Department is the inspection and approval of all sub-surface Sewage Disposal systems. The authority for this program is the District Sanitary Code which specifies the minimum requirements for waste water disposal as well as Water Supply and Refuse Disposal.

To accomplish the task of enforcement the Health Department has the team assistance of local County and Township officials who are charged with the issuance of permits and inspection of residential Sewage Disposal Systems. Problem areas are the direct responsibility of Health Department personnel.

In order to keep County and Township officials informed and up-to-date on enforcement procedures, District Health Department #1 annually sponsors a pollution control workshop.

A workshop for Crawford and Kalkaska counties is set for 7:30 p.m., Thursday, April 30 at the Kalkaska City Building, Kalkaska. The workshop will include invitation to County and Township officials of the two counties.

Michigan's summer camp for youngsters with diabetes, Camp Midicha, will be open for two ten-day sessions in 1970. Boys and girls from ages eight thru sixteen may attend either or both periods from July 12 thru July 22 and July 22 thru August 1.

Camp Midicha is sponsored by the Michigan Diabetes Association, a United Fund agency, and is located near Oxford, about forty miles north of Detroit. The Association provides camper-ships when the family cannot afford the fee of $65.00 per session. No youngster is ever turned away for lack of finances.

Camp applications and brochures may be obtained by writing to the Michigan Diabetes Association, 6131 West Outer Drive, Detroit 48235. Early registration is advised to assure the youngster of a place at camp this summer.

There it stands, the Nation's Beauty Shop. Millions of others like it are saying to us, "Give us your trash... let us help you beautify our country!" And all we have to do is to use this free beauty service—take a step or two extra to keep trash from becoming litter.

Each of us can do our part in giving our country a "facial" by patronizing these little "shops" set up for our convenience. Every litter bit hurts. So let's keep our face clean Michigan!

Do you put a higher price on an Olds than we do?

Our own surveys indicate that quite a few people think an Olds costs a lot more than it really does. Result? Many people buy an ordinary car and end up with a lot less car and value for their money.

It's so unnecessary, too, because Oldsmobile has many models that are priced right down with so-called low-priced cars. See your Olds dealer. He'll prove that you're closer to Olds than you think.

Cutlass S: The sporty Olds—one of nine Olds models priced under $2995—right down with a lot of low-priced names. But Cutlass really widens the value gap with standard features like these: Regular-gas Rocket V-8 □ Nylon-blend loop-pile carpeting □ Foam-padded seats □ Deluxe steering wheel □ Bias-belted tires □ Door side-guard beams □ Recessed windshield wipers □ Hidden radio antenna.

THE TENTH ANNUAL FIESTA was held Tuesday evening, April 14 in the High School. Under the direction of Mrs. Faith Stripe, the students of the Spanish classes had made pinatas for the occasion, which were enjoyed after a program in which some groups did dances, others sang, and others did skits. The latter were all very good and most amusing. Refreshments of punch, chips and Mexican cookies were served.

Tornado Season Has Arrived

Although unseasonal snowfalls make it seem unlikely, the tornado season is just around the springtime corner.

Over the past 50 years, April has produced the greatest number of tornadoes in Michigan. The tornado "season" in Michigan runs approximately four months, April through July, although they have struck the state as late as October.

Col. Frederick E. Davids, State Police Director and head of Michigan's Civil Defense unit has advised citizens to be alert for tornado activity and to report sightings promptly. "There were eight known tornadoes in Michigan last year," Davids said. "Fortunately no one was killed." He pointed out that early warning and public awareness can do more to protect lives than anything else.

Civil Defense officials advise knowing the difference between an announced tornado "watch" and tornado "warning." A tornado watch is used to alert the public to the possibility that tornadoes may develop over a certain area. A tornado warning means that a tornado has been sighted in the area or its presence is indicated by radar. When a tornado signal or alarm is sounded, officials advise taking cover immediately. In open country a ravine or ditch affords some protection while basements or underground cellars will afford shelter for those at home or work.

Davids indicated that Michigan averaged nine tornadoes a year over the last decade including the disastrous Palm Sunday twisters of 1965 that killed 53 persons.

ROOC, Inc. to Help The Handicapped

ROOC, Inc., a sheltered workshop for physically and mentally handicapped persons, is now open, according to OneCAP Deputy Director Clyde Schut. The workshop is sponsored by the COOR area M.A.R.C. (Michigan Association for Retarded Children) and OneCAP, Inc. The name (ROOC) is a result of the Counties that the workshop will serve: Roscommon, Oscoda, Ogemaw, and Crawford.

ROOC, Inc., is a work and therapeutic center for those handicapped persons who are over the age of 16. It is at this age, 16, that schools no longer have control, and it is this age which demonstrates the highest drop-out rate.

The center is located in the former Gerrish Township hall near the community of Roscommon in Roscommon county. Work for the center is obtained by contracting for small jobs with local industries. Two companies have already agreed to cooperate with the workshop and provide contracts. The workshop is certified by the Department of Labor.

Understanding The Canada Goose

THE CANADA GOOSE IS AN INTERNATIONAL BIRD. MOST BREED IN CANADA AND WINTER IN THE U.S. THE WINTER COUNT (DEC. 1969) FOR THE MISSISSIPPI FLYWAY, OF WHICH MICHIGAN IS A PART, TOTALLED 588,650.

FOUR DISTINCT POPULATIONS OF CANADAS CROSS MICHIGAN. EACH BREEDS IN SEPARATE AREAS AROUND HUDSON AND JAMES BAY, AND MIGRATES SEPARATELY.

Spring Peepers

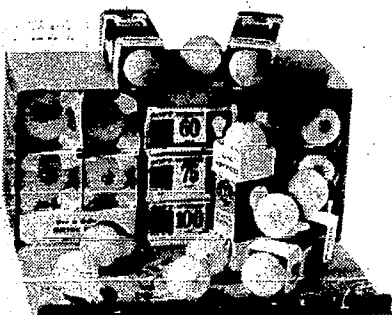

Pictured here are some of the noisiest residents of Michigan, and depending on how you view them, they may be spoilers of the night's rest, or a musical and friendly addition to a spring evening. Spring peepers are members of the Hylidae, or wood frogs, and are the smallest of that lot of chirruping creatures. Peepers are found throughout Michigan and make their presence known most forcefully early in April, continuing their rolling chorus of calls until May. How anything so small can make so much noise is sometimes beyond comprehension (think the would-be sleeper). And if you try to find the source of all this tumult, look in low moist places, under fallen leaves, or among the mosses. That's where they sit. They stay there in the winter, too, and wait patiently for the first warm days and nights of spring to loose their torrent of sound on the countryside. —Mich. Dept. of Natural Resources.

The Avalanche

Barefoot In The Potpourri

A potpourri of comments, observations and views, mostly unrelated, and all strictly personal: (Or—let's run barefoot through our piles of notes and clippings, and see what oozes up between the toes.)

And what's wrong with Martha Mitchell hiring her own press secretary? My reaction is: It's about time.

The lady tabbed for that job—Mrs. Kay Woestendieck will have as her biggest task getting Mrs. Mitchell to listen to her, or follow her advice.

Maybe Mrs. W. can start by taking away Martha's telephone credit card.

I see where a federal judge has ruled that the air traffic controllers' strike—or sick-in, or slowdown, or sickout, or whatever they choose to call it—really is a strike.

No argument there. But what should cause concern is the permissive attitude and laws that allow strikes against the government.

The government, after all, is the people themselves. Strikes against the government are strikes against the people. Can we endure them? Can we permit them?

The saddest aspect of the settlement of the postal strike from the long-range view of the ultimate public good, in my opinion, is the recognition of collective bargaining as an accepted part of public employment.

The ultimate bargaining weapon of the strike is an effective weapon for the public employee, and "management" has no effective defense. "Management" cannot employ the ultimate counter weapon available in the private sector—the right to go out of business and do away with the jobs altogether. In a public employee strike, the cards are all stacked in favor of the striker.

Government acceptance of collective bargaining—and the effectiveness of the strike as a weapon in the postal situation—will not be lost on teachers, hospital attendants, police officers, and other public employees.

One road to political prominence in Michigan has been the chairmanship of a political state central committee.

For example, this year two former Democratic chairmen—State Sen. Sander Levin and Zolton Ferency—are running for governor. The last two Democratic candidates for governor—Ferency and Neil Staebler—had served as party chairmen.

On the Republican side, the immediate past chairman—Mrs. Eily Peterson—is now an assistant national chairman, and ran for U. S. Senator six years ago. One of her recent predecessors—Lawrence Lindemer—has run for attorney general and university regent. Another GOP chieftain of recent vintage—John Feikens—was a federal judge briefly.

Political commentators often see the same situation as differently as two real estate appraisers eyeballing the same property.

For example, on Page 1-C of a recent issue of The Detroit Sunday News, Jerry F. TerHorse, chief of the News Washington bureau, had these comments about one aspect of the Carswell case: "The senate vote on Carswell is certain to affect the Nixon administration's ardent courtship of the white South. Losing Haynsworth could be excused as a suitor's bad luck on how to please a lady, but losing Carswell comes off as bad judgment. The South, like any woman, is willing to be romanced by Mr. Nixon, but it doesn't like to be embarrassed. The President made no political points in Dixie by Carswell's rejection, judging by Southern lawmakers' comments."

Two pages later in the same issue, on Page 3-C, the News editorial writer saw the same situation like this:

"The political picture in the wake of the Carswell rejection is far from clear cut. Two rejections in a row must be regarded as a distinct setback for the President. Still, his position seems automatically strengthened in the South, whose resentment he articulated in his statement last Thursday. The question is whether the losses he may suffer elsewhere by his angry and sweeping criticism of senators will offset any political gain with Southerners."

Another question which instantly presents itself is what really is the effect of the Carswell affair on Nixon and the South? Apparently, if you read The News, you still won't know.

At any rate, this just proves once again that newspaper publishers do not censor their own columnists.

Heck, sometimes they don't even read them.

All of us really want the establishment of harmony and order. We take a fundamental step in this direction when we review the cornerstone of our faith—the commandments and adopt them for present day living. As we affirm divine order in our mind, body and affairs, we allow the fullness of all life, all light, and all good will come to us.
